MCCOOL SEES POTENTIAL IN CHARGER BASEBALL

New head coach sees pathway for a successful program.

BY CYOTE WILLIAMS

The ACGC baseball team was better than its 2-23 record might suggest in 2024. Both of the Chargers' wins came in the West Central Activities Conference, where they finished at the bottom, but that is not the concern of the new head coach, Nick McCool.

McCool has been around the program for several years as an assistant and volunteer. ACGC Activities Director Taylor Morris stepped down, clearing the way for McCool to take the helm. He liked what he saw from the program last year.

"We played a lot of teams close at times. Did the wins add up? No. But, as the year went on, the bats started to get better, and, as the year went on, we progressed and we got better. When it came to that postseason game, we were right there with Lynnville, who ended up winning a state title. That's kind of how a lot of our games went. If we only played five innings, we probably would have been a .500 team.

In that postseason game, ACGC was down, 3-4, heading into the bottom of the sixth inning against a 23-2 Lynnville-Sully squad that would go on to win the 1A state title. That's not the type of performance you would not expect from a two-win squad, showing ACGC's potential on the final day of the season.

ACGC loses three seniors from the 2024 team: Tegan Slaybaugh, Lance Bunde and Andrew Mahaffey. Bunde only featured in one game. Slaybaugh was one of the team's best bats and pitchers, and Mahaffey made solid contributions on both offense and defense.

The senior class for 2025 is Jathan South, Jackson Pfrang, Payton Policky, Noah Kading, Taytum Bates and Ben Franzeen.

By batting average, Noah Kading was ACGC's best hitter with a .360 clip. In the 25 games he started, he led the team in hits with 27 and RBIs with 14. Kading was also a solid fielder, recording a .943 fielding percentage with only four errors on 70 chances.

Franzeen started all 25 games and is another of the Chargers' best hitters from 2024. He had 14 hits, eight RBIs and one home run while batting .222. Franzeen is also one of the team's best returning fielders with a .975 fielding percentage. He had only three errors and was second on the team in putouts with 117. Franzeen spent 22 and two-thirds innings on the mound, recording a team-high 24 strikeouts.

Pfrang also started in all 25 games. He had 13 hits and 11 RBIs while batting .197, a mark he will aim to improve. Pfrang was solid in the outfield, recording a .938 fielding percentage with just two errors, 24 putouts and six assists. In eight innings on the mound, Pfrang struck out eight batters.

Bates started in 22 games for ACGC. As a catcher, he was an effective fielder. He recorded a .956 fielding percentage and had 120 putouts and nine assists.

Juniors this year are Tommy Skram, Chase Slaybaugh, Blaize Dorsey and Xander Harwood.

Skram was one of ACGC's best players as a sophomore. He started all 25 games and had the second-most hits with 21 and knocked in seven RBIs while batting .273, fifth-best on the team. Skram was effective on the base paths, recording a team-high 13 steals. He recorded a .909 fielding percentage with 34 putouts and four errors. Skram also saw some time on the mound, pitching 13 and two-thirds innings and striking out 13 batters.

Dorsey returns after starting all 25 games. He had 13 hits and 11 RBIs, the second most on the team, while hitting at a .228 clip. Dorsey recorded a .775 fielding percentage with 15 putouts and 16 assists. Dorsey pitched the most amount of innings for a returning pitcher at 27 and one-third. He had the third-most strikeouts on the team with 22.

Slaybaugh started 18 games and played in 24. He had seven hits and three RBIs while batting .171. He picked up eight stolen bags last year. He also had a solid year in the field with a .958 fielding percentage and 35 putouts with only two errors.

Harwood saw limited action, appearing in eight games and starting four. He stole three bases during his time and recorded zero errors in the outfield.

The sophomores are a small group with two: Jonny Kading and Colton Clark.

Clark played in 24 games and started 22. He had 11 hits, 11 RBIs and batted .190. He recorded a .923 fielding percentage with 18 putouts and six assists with just two errors. Clark spent 16 and one-third innings on the mound, striking out 19 batters, third best among returning pitchers.

Jonny Kading played in four games, recording a hit in one of his two plate appearances.

Freshmen this season are Ryne Noland and Sayer Bireline-Huss.

Noland is new to the team this season, while Bireline-Huss saw some action as an eighth grader, playing in four games. In his three innings on the mound, he struck out five batters.

A solid crowd of eighth-graders rounds out the roster: Reece Emgarten, William Skram, Andrew Baumert, Joseph Fagan, Cal Clark, Gavin Steensen and Easton Gettler.

"It's a good group of kids," McCool said of the eighth-graders. "It's an athletic group. We're still a little young, and some haven't seen a lot of varsity time there, but I think there are a few of those kids that can definitely get some varsity innings."

McCool takes over a young squad with a lot of potential. He is excited to see what he can get out of the team this year.

"We want to do better than we did last year. Our thing is, we want to compete. And the goals the guys have set are pretty lofty. They want to finish in the top half of the conference, which I think is very doable for us. We have the capabilities to play really good baseball," McCool said.

McCool provided plenty of reasons as to why ACGC baseball fans should be excited to come out to the ballfield this summer.

"I'm hoping that they're going to see a different product on the field. The other reason is, our kids love the support, and our community is a great one for that. As much as we want them to come out, our kids would really enjoy them coming out. It should be a fun year for us," McCool said. ■

PANORAMA BASEBALL LOOKS TO CONTINUE ITS UPWARD TRAJECTORY

A solid class of talented juniors heads up a young squad ready to improve on last season's development.

BY CYOTE WILLIAMS

The Panorama baseball team finished last season with a 10-16 record, with the Panthers going 7-12 in West Central Activities Conference action. The team's season ended in a close substate loss to Ankeny Christian, 4-1. This put the Panthers in the bottom half of the conference but only two games off finishing in the top half — a huge improvement over last season.

"We were a little bit ahead of schedule with bouncing back in the previous season. We had three wins, and we go from three wins to 10 wins. That was maybe a little bit bigger jump than we had expected," Head Coach Brian Bahrenfuss said.

A good surprise, nonetheless. Bahrenfuss gives credit to how the team's seniors performed. Braylon Dawes and Hunter Dishman led the team in hits and batting average. Dishman was also the Panthers' best pitcher, recording five wins and leading the team in strikeouts. Mason Carstens featured in all 26 games for Panorama and provided a solid bat, reliable defense, and two wins on the mound. These players will be difficult to replace, but with only three players leaving the team due to graduation, Panorama is in a solid position to make up for their lost production.

"Hunter and Braylon did a good job of taking ownership and leading the way and trying to get everybody on the same page of what we're working toward on the season. That helped out tremendously," Bahrenfuss said.

Panorama features two seniors this season, Joel Cooper and Jaysen Stagg.

Cooper was listed as a utility player last season, getting time at first base and at catcher, but mostly as a designated hitter. In 23 games, Cooper had nine hits, eight RBIs and was walked eight times. His .345 on-base percentage was the third-highest for returning players who played 20 or more games in 2023. Stagg only featured in 12 games last season, mainly at second base, but spent most of his time at the JV. Bahrenfuss hopes to see him impact the team this season.

"This year can be a big culmination to a four-year career and have a good senior season for him at the varsity level," Bahrenfuss said.

There are four juniors on the roster: Parker Cary, Bryce Dawes, Brayden Galvan and Brayden Meinecke. Each of them had a major impact last season as sophomores.

Meinecke started in all 26 games for Panorama last year. He had 22 hits and his 33 total bases are the most of any returning player, a team-high 11 doubles and the second-most on the team for RBIs with 14. He was solid in the outfield, recording a .875 fielding percentage with 32 putouts.

Cary is another solid returning bat for the Panthers. He played in 24 games. His 20 hits are the second most for returning players. He had eight RBIs and batted at a .290 clip, best average of all returning players. Cary was struck out only seven times last season, the lowest among players with 20 or more games. Cary went 0-5 on the mound but recorded the second-most 17 strikeouts for returning players.

Dawes played in all 26 games for Panorama. Despite some struggles at the plate, he still batted in six RBIs. Dawes was a solid fielder, recording a .812 fielding percentage with 22 putouts and 34 assists. Dawes' impact was mainly as a pitcher. He recorded a 2-0 record in 10 games on the mound. His 29 innings pitched, 22 strikeouts and 4.34 ERA are the best of returning players.

Galvan played in 22 games, starting 18. He had 12 hits, and his .240 batting average is the third-best among returning players. Galvan was the Panthers' best fielder last season. He led the team in fielding percentage at .987. He recorded only one error in 78 chances, recording 65 putouts and 12 assists. Galvan spent 23 and two-thirds innings on the mound. He had the best opponent batting average at .115 and has the second-best returning ERA at 4.73.

"We're looking for the biggest gains out of them and to be the leaders would be our group of juniors who have been playing since they were freshmen," Bahrenfuss said.

The sophomore class, like the senior class, is represented by two athletes: Eli Cooper and Cruz Crandall.

Crandall started all 26 games for Panorama as a freshman. He had 13 hits and five RBIs. Crandall was also an effective fielder last season. He has the second-highest returning fielding percentage at .926. Crandall had only four errors in 54 chances with 46 putouts and four assists.

Cooper only featured in one game at the varsity level last season. Expect him to see more of the field in 2025.

Freshmen make up the majority of the squad.

Bahrenfuss is heading up a young squad this season. A solid group of juniors and a large class of hungry freshmen could continue the upward trajectory started last season. He says the team is focused on getting better every single day.

"We're just talking about getting a little bit better, 1% each day. By the time we get there, we've developed the habits necessary to be competitive in the postseason. For us to be successful, like any other baseball team, it's going to be about the guys when they get the opportunity to pitch, throw strikes, and eliminate the walks. Then, on offense, putting the ball in play, putting pressure on the defense to make plays, doing those things and having that gritty mentality," Bahrenfuss said. ■

MERICAL TAKES OVER A PROGRAM READY TO GAIN EXPERIENCE

First-year head coach is in charge of a young ACGC squad.

BY CYOTE WILLIAMS

ACGC softball has a new head coach in Tyler Merical. Merical spent the last two years as an assistant coach at Ridgeview High School's program. This will be his first time in charge of a program.

ACGC went 13-13 overall with a fifth-best 8-12 conference record in the West Central Activities Conference. ACGC's season would end against Van Meter in the second round of regionals. Any postseason defeat is a bummer, but against the eventual state championship team that won 40 straight games that season, it hurts a bit less. This was a big jump from the year before, when ACGC finished the year 7-20.

The Chargers aim to continue that success, but it will be difficult to do so without last year's seniors. In last year's Summer Sports Guide, we highlighted the team's impressive senior class, saying the class would be integral to its success. Those seniors certainly pulled through.

Reagan Carney, Jenna Rowley, Mersadez Richter or Emerson Van Meter led the Chargers in nearly every category: Hits, RBIs, HRs, batting average, fielding percentage, or strikeouts, you name it. It will be an uphill battle for ACGC to replace all of that lost production, but it is a challenge Merical is taking head on.

"It's very young (the 2025 team). Last year's group had a lot of seniors. This year, we only have three. We're going to have some girls that will get an opportunity that haven't seen the varsity field a whole lot. They'll get a nice opportunity here," Merical said. "I know with the younger group that we have, there could be some timidity. The big thing is just trying to keep every day aggressive. Come to every day of practice, be focused, and be ready to go."

Those three seniors are Jayla Hoover, Paige Van Meter and Belle Fagan. Each of them started at least 24 games for ACGC last season and will be bringing back plenty of experience. Merical says the group has done well stepping into the leadership role early in the season.

Fagan started all 26 games for ACGC and will be the Chargers' best returning bat. She had 17 hits and 13 RBIs while batting .250. On defense, she recorded an .818 fielding percentage with 18 putouts.

Hoover started in 24 games for the Chargers and also provided solid offense. She had 13 hits and 10 RBIs while batting .200. Hoover was one of the team's best infielders last year with a .953 fielding percentage, 36 putouts, 45 assists and only four errors on 85 chances. Emerson Van Meter did the majority of pitching for ACGC. Hoover returns as the next most experienced pitcher, throwing 22 innings.

Paige Van Meter started in all 26 games, collecting nine hits, one home run and six RBIs with a .158 batting average. Paige had a .895 fielding percentage last season with 32 putouts and two assists.

The incoming junior class is Camdyn Richter, Jacie Baker, Karli Kautzky, Caydence Boals and Savannah Akers.

Richter was the only sophomore on the team to start all 26 games last year. She had six hits and one RBI while batting .171. Richter was a solid defender, recording a .898 fielding percentage with 17 putouts, 36 assists and only six errors on 59 chances. Merical also points to Richter as a player who has stepped up in the offseason.

Boals made one start for the Chargers last year but played in 14 games. Baker led the team in steals in her 16 games. Kautzky and Akers also saw limited playing time, nine and six games, respectively. Each of them will have to step into bigger roles this season.

Olivia Mahaffey is the lone sophomore.

Kiera Boals and Megan Underwood make up the freshman class. Boals made eight appearances as an eighth grader.

Five eighth-graders round out the roster, tying juniors for the largest class on the squad. They are Jerzee Huss, Trinity Calhoun, Carrie Downing, Tessa Slaybaugh and Kailee Kautzky.

Merical will have a young group in his first head coaching stint in a tough WCAC. Reigning state champion Van Meter and plenty of others will prove to be a challenge. He has a simple message for his squad: Be competitive.

"The thing that I want to make sure that we do is, no matter what team we play, that we're competitive and we're always competing. It doesn't matter if it's the best in the conference or the worst in the conference. Whoever we play, we want to make sure that we're competitive every night and every game," Merical said.

Merical and his players are excited to get the ball rolling this season. He hopes ACGC softball fans are excited, too.

"I'm just hoping we bring an exciting brand to softball that the community can get behind and enjoy. We want to be something that not only the school but the community can be proud of," Merical said. ■

PANORAMA BUILDS A ‘NEXT PLAY, NEXT PITCH’ CULTURE

A solid class of talented juniors heads up a young squad ready to improve on last season’s development.

BY CYOTE WILLIAMS

Last season was a rebuilding year for Panorama’s softball team. The Panthers finished with an 8-22 record overall and a 3-17 record in the West Central Activities Conference. The girls did win a postseason game against South Central Calhoun, 12-0, before falling in the second round of regionals against East Marshall.

“I saw a big step forward in their overall confidence at the plate and in the field. Mentally, they took a huge step toward understanding the game and how to battle through adversities that come with playing varsity ball,” Head Coach Ismael Galvan said.

There were three seniors on last season’s team: Avery Bahrenfuss, Jaidyn Sellers and Lindy Nelson. Bahrenfuss saw limited action, only appearing in seven games. Nelson led the team in hits and RBIs and had the second-highest batting average on the team. Sellers, now playing at the University of Iowa, led the team in batting average. She reached base on walks 28 times last season. Of her 20 hits, 10 were home runs. Panorama will miss her blazing speed on the base paths. She had 28 steals on 28 attempts and scored 43 of the team’s 175 runs.

“Andrea Knode stepped in and gave us some big innings as a young pitcher, and I’m looking forward to her doing the same this year. Hannah Dishman and Emma Walker played big spots for us as well and expect them to do so this season.”

Seniors this year are Bridgette Ewing, Faith Recker

and Arilynn Steenblock.

Steenblock had a dominant junior season for Panorama. She was third on the team in hits, fifth in RBIs and has the highest returning batting average at .312. Steenblock is also one of the team’s best returning fielders and pitchers. She had the fourth-best fielding percentage at .948 with a team-high 71 putouts and started 20 games on the mound. She recorded seven wins and struck out 54 batters in 97 and one-third innings pitched. She comes into this season off an injury, but Galvan expects a big jump from her in her final season in Panorama blue.

Ewing only featured in nine games last season. In her limited action, she scored three runs and had two RBIs.

Faith Recker missed all of last season with an injury. Galvan says it is great to have her back.

Panorama has three juniors, Ava Thompson, Elah

Molloy and Peyton Walker. Thompson and Molloy are two players who Galvan also expects a jump from in 2025.

Thompson started in 28 games for Panorama last season. At the plate, she had 11 hits and three RBIs. Thompson recorded a fielding percentage of .786 while at second base with 27 putouts and six assists.

Molloy started 29 games for Panorama, recording 16 hits. Her 16 RBIs were the second-most on the team last Walker featured in three games for Panorama in limited action.

The sophomore class is the smallest with two players: Jady Lawrence and Bridgete White.

White started 19 games with 15 hits and nine RBIs. Her .273 batting average was the best among freshmen on last year's team. White showed her value on defense with Panorama's best fielding percentage, .977. In 43 total chances, White only had one error, recording four putouts and 38 assists.

Lawrence played in 17 games for the Panthers. She was solid on defense during her limited action, recording a .909 fielding percentage with nine putouts, one assist and only one error. Lawrence spent 25 and two-thirds innings on the mound with 13 strikeouts.

Panorama's squad is young, with freshmen making up the bulk of the team. This season, there are seven: Miyah Small, Leah Kastner, Leah Carstens, Andrea Knode, Miley Nolan, Hannah Dishman and Emma Walker. Several of these players saw ample varsity time as eighth-graders.

Walker started all 30 games and was one of the team's best hitters last season. She recorded the second-most hits with 25, 13 RBIs and had a solid batting average of .294, third-best among returning players.

Walker was also a weapon on the base path, stealing eight bases, the second-most on the team last year. She recorded a .825 fielding percentage with 57 putouts and 23 assists.

Dishman played in 29 games for Panorama. She had some struggles at the plate with only four hits but recorded three RBIs, making those hits count. Dishman recorded a .783 fielding percentage with 30 putouts and six assists.

Knode also played in 29 games in 2024. She was solid on offense for the Panthers, recording 18 hits and eight RBIs. Her .310 batting average was fourth best on the team last year. Knode was one of Panorama's best fielders, recording a .958 fielding percentage with 23 putouts and only one error. She pitched the second-most amount of innings on the team, 30 and two-thirds, recording 19 strikeouts.

Kastner saw the field in 13 games for Panorama, starting seven.

Four eighth-graders round out the roster: Lexi Galvan, Ines Gimeno Perez, Libby Miller and Alyssa Stanley.

Galvan says the team was able to get more work in during this preseason than last year, which should help them come out to a stronger start in 2025.

"We had a great showing in numbers that came to take advantage of being able to get some swings in before our contact days. That says a lot about the dedication these girls have shown to us and I know that hard work will pay off this season," Galvan said.

Panorama returns a majority of its offense and defense this season. That bodes well for Galvan

"With only losing three seniors and most of the squad back this season, we have been able to build on that foundation with our next pitch, next play culture.

I think the girls have bought in and have done such a great job so far this season in stacking great practices and working hard. It's a testament to them and how hard they work every practice, and Coach Thompson and I could not be prouder. I can honestly say that these girls have bought in, and I could not be more excited for the season," Galvan said. ■
